

The Gregory Djanikian Scholars Program
Fee Waiver Request

To learn more about the Gregory Djanikian Scholars Program, you can click here.

All emerging writers who have not published full-length collections are eligible (regardless of age, geographic location, or educational status), and Gregory Djanikian Scholars will receive $100 and publication in a future issue of the Adroit Journal. Additionally, finalists will be awarded copies of Greg's latest collection, Dear Gravity, and a list of semifinalists determined by the editors will be released with results.

To accommodate this while offering free online issues, we have set a non-refundable submission fee of $9. If you require financial assistance, you may submit a fee waiver by downloading this form and following these instructions.

Please fill out the below information and return the form electronically to editors@theadroitjournal.org with subject line "Fee Waiver Request". If you are not able to electronically send the waiver, please inquire to the above email for our the mailing address. Due to fee waivers' processing time, fee waivers will only be accepted until one week before the deadline (postmarked).

Due to fee waivers' processing time, fee waivers will only be accepted until December 13th, 2018 at 11:59 pm PST. Please include your submission—one .doc or .docx file—as an attachment to your email. Please also include a full catalogue of publication history for enclosed poems, if applicable.
